South Asian Studies
Brown Bag Series, Fall 2017

14 SEPTEMBER 2017
Gautam Nair (Yale University, Political Science)
Violence Exposure and Ethnic Identification in the Kashmir Valley

28 SEPTEMBER 2017
Tiraana Bains (Yale University, History)
A View from Arcot: Envisioning Empire in Eighteenth Century South Asia

12 OCTOBER 2017
Sarah Khan (Columbia University, Political Science)
Making Democracy Work for Women: Evidence from Pakistan

26 OCTOBER 2017
Vivek Yadav (Columbia University, Middle Eastern, South Asian, and African Studies)
Telling it like it is: Candor as a Norm of Political Performance

2 NOVEMBER 2017
Gaurav Chiplunkar (Yale University, Economics)
How Important are Job Matching Frictions in the Labor Market? Evidence from India

9 NOVEMBER 2017
Neelima Sharma (Yale University, Mechanical Engineering)
Postural Stability in Human Fingers During Contact Tasks

16 NOVEMBER 2017
Hari Ramesh (Yale University, Political Science)
B.R. Ambedkar and the Logic of Democratic Rule

30 NOVEMBER 2017
Bhoomika Joshi (Yale University, Anthropology)
On the Road: Public Works and Transport in the Kumaon Hills (1940-1960)

Photo courtesy: Vatsal Naresh (Jama Masjid, Ahmedabad)