Wilbur Cross Medal Lecture

The Wilbur Cross Medal is the highest honor the Yale Graduate School bestows on its alumni who have made outstanding contributions to scholarship, public service, teaching or academic administration.

Urjit Ravindra Patel
’90 PhD, Economics
Economist

Wednesday, October 9, 2019
12:00 pm, 28 Hillhouse Avenue, Department of Economics, Tobin Lounge

“The Cul-De-Sac in Indian Banking: A Dominant Government Sector, Limited Fiscal Space and Independent Regulation (Is There an “Impossible Trilemma?”)”

Other Lectures by Wilbur Cross Medalists

Douglas R. Green ’77 BS, ’81 PhD, Biology
“New Tricks for Old Proteins: Non-Canonical Functions of Autophagy Proteins in Inflammation, Anti-Cancer Immunity, and Alzheimer’s Disease”
Monday, October 7 at 10:00 AM
The Anlyan Center for Medical Research and Education (TAC) Auditorium, 300 Cedar Street, Room N107

Ruth Garrett Millikan ’69 PhD, Philosophy
“Semantics and Definite Descriptions”
Monday, October 7 at 12:00 PM
Sterling Memorial Library Lecture Hall (SML), 120 High Street

Susan M. Kidwell ’82 PhD, Geology and Geophysics
“Our New Understanding of Dead-Shell Assemblages: A Powerful Tool for Deciphering Human Impacts”
Monday, October 7 at 3:30 PM
Kline Geology Lab (KGL), 210 Whitney Avenue, Room 123

Yale Graduate School of Arts and Sciences